than you expend (burn) in a day, your body stores the extra calories as fat resulting in weight and fat gain.

Weight Loss Tip#3: When you eat fewer calories than you burn in a day, your body will use the stored fat calories resulting in weight loss.

Weight Loss Tip#4: If the amount of calories you consume are below your body's requirement, you will lose muscle weight, not fat weight.

Weight Loss Tip #5: Any type of physical activity you choose to do--strenuous activities such as running or aerobic dancing or moderate-intensity activities such as walking, yoga, or household work---will increase the number of calories your body uses. The key to successful weight control and improved overall health is making physical activity a part of your daily routine. 30 minutes or more 7 days/week should be your minimal goal if you want to see result and feel better.
